THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA

“Biosphere 2 is an ideal meetings venue. Its isolation from everyday distractions, in the spectacular setting of the foothills of Southern Arizona’s Catalina mountains, promotes an atmosphere of dialogue that can be extraordinary in developing and enhancing interdisciplinary collaborations.”

Dr. Pierre Meystre

Director of B2 Institute & UA Regents’ Professor

A Place of Vision and Purpose

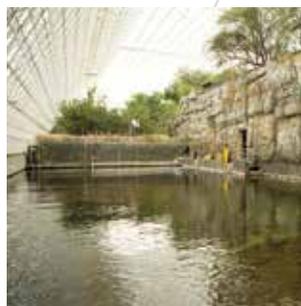

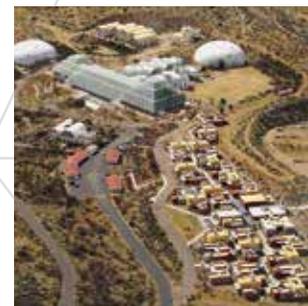

Located on the Biosphere 2 campus in the serene foothills of the Catalina Mountains, the University of Arizona’s Biosphere 2 Conference Center provides an inspiring setting for conferences, workshops, retreats, summer and winter schools, and events that unleash creative thinking and promote the free exchange of ideas between scientists and students, entrepreneurs and educators, executives and engineers, planners, policymakers and the general public.

Working, meeting and relaxing are never more than a few steps away.

Just north of Tucson, and an easy drive from Phoenix, the B2 campus is surrounded by the scenic Sonoran Desert.

With its lush indoor rain forest and million-gallon ocean under its 3.14 acre roof, Biosphere 2 provides a unique window on some of the most pressing global Grand Challenges.

Work, Learn and Relax

Nested within the breathtaking environment of the Sonoran Desert, the Biosphere 2 Conference Center provides a perfect location to unwind and socialize between or after meetings. Its fully high-speed networked campus of 28 Santa Fe-style casitas offers over 100 single or double-capacity sleeping rooms and several double-occupancy offices within easy walking distance of all conference facilities and the Biosphere 2 laboratories.

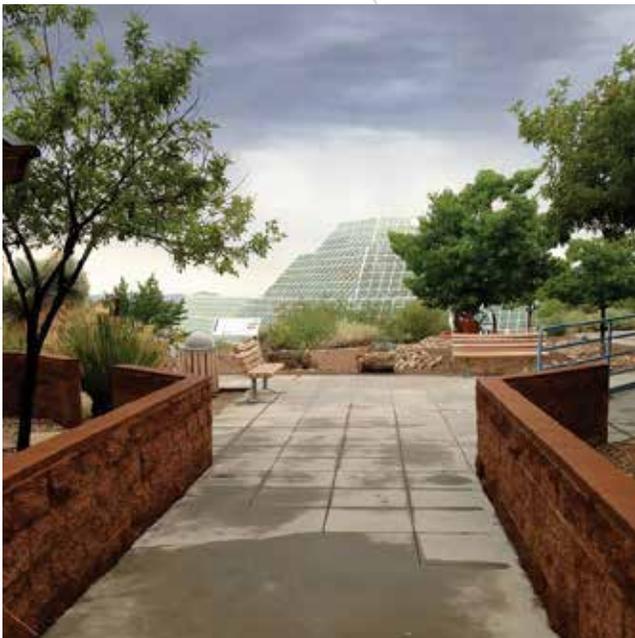

Flexible Options, Functional Spaces

Choose from indoor and/or outdoor planning options, including eight meeting rooms in a variety of sizes, all equipped with white boards, LCD projectors, and broadband wifi. And select amongst a number of mouth-watering catering options, from high-end gourmet meals to simple snacks or sandwiches.
